

Introduction

Founded in 1951, Chongqing Jiaotong University (CQJTU for short) is a teaching and research university with distinctive traffic characteristics, mainly work-oriented and multi-disciplinary and coordinated development. Currently, it consists of fifteen doctoral degree programs, sixty-five master's degree programs, 58 undergraduate majors, and covers a great variety of disciplines from engineering and science to management, economics, science, art and law. It is also one of the earliest universities in Chongqing to carry out teaching Chinese as a foreign language. There are more than 2000 teaching staff, among them, more than 1500 full-time teachers and 700 with senior professional titles. At present, there are almost 27,000 full-time students on campus, including more than 3,500 doctoral and master's degree students and more than 24,000 undergraduates. Since the time of CQJTU's founding, more than 150,000 talents at all levels have been cultivated.

In 2004, we started recruiting international students, established Confucius Institute series with University of Abomey-Calavi in Benin in 2009 and the Confucius Institute in Washington state in the USA. In the Language Culture Training Center was established. Our university was approved as the first HSK network test site in Chongqing in 2012, opened an undergraduate course in Chinese International Education in 2014, and subsequently opened a complete courses in international trade, mechanical and electrical engineering, civil engineering, tourism management and others. In 2018, CQJTU also was approved for a Master's degree in Teaching Chinese to Speakers of Other Languages (MTC SOL for short) and Master of Business Management (MBM for short). More than 1,000 international students from more than 31 countries on five continents have been trained, and they have been well received by all units and recognized by society, especially in Chinese-funded transportation and engineering institutions, Confucius Institutes (classrooms), Chinese and foreign business enterprises and cultural exchanges and training institutions.

Advantages of CQJTU
