

Notice Regarding Inclusion of the “China Scholastic Competency Assessment (CSCA) Test Results” in Beijing Jiaotong University's Undergraduate Application Materials

In accordance with the China Scholarship Council's (CSC) directive on implementing the China Scholastic Competency Assessment (CSCA) for undergraduate admission, starting from the 2026-2027 academic year, Beijing Jiaotong University will require the “CSCA Score Report for Undergraduate Admission” as a mandatory application document. All international students applying for undergraduate degree programs at our university (including self-funded applicants and applicants for various scholarship programs) must submit this report.

The CSCA assessment comprises four subjects: Professional Chinese, Mathematics, Physics, and Chemistry. Professional Chinese and Mathematics are mandatory for all applicants. Applicants to science and engineering programs at our university must take the Physics exam. Please refer to the following chart for details:

The first CSCA test is scheduled for December 21, 2025, with registration opening in November 2025. Starting in 2026, five tests will be administered annually in January, March, April, June, and December. Specific exam dates, formats, fees, and other details are available on the official website (www.csc.cn).

International students interested in applying for undergraduate programs at Beijing Jiaotong University should closely monitor CSCA test-related information. It is mandatory to take the test before submitting your application and to submit your score report as required.
